MARY ELLEN'S WAY

The Orchid Door to Society

When we ponder some of our actions, and judging therefrom, we do not seem to be so extremely adverse and critical as we do to our foibles. We believe, however, we do.

Society is now dusting its drawing rooms, and looking over its gowns and jewels, and preparing its doors for another season. Indeed, here and there in houses, the doors have already opened, and those bidden to come in, with their umbrellas, lines, drink a cup of tea, left cards, and whirled away.

But these doors are looking anxious at various portals, and wondering if they will be welcomed within; or if they may not be hidden as frequently as the doors themselves, they may compel the doors to swing open, whenever they knock.

And these doors are continually varied, that they may be fitted to the wished-for door.

And after due consideration, many decide this is the orchid route to the destination desired.

So the doors which decide this plan, are now busily engaged in fabricating florist, and those go impressive boxes of delicate air blossoms to the society debuts, or great society lady, whose entrance into the room is to be awaited.

Several hundred dollars a week is a mere bagatelle for those entering society by the orchid route, to spend, or to have spent, it is costly, and requires far more than by the speediest and most luxurious limited. It is very apt to be the last item on the list of a journey's end, if their bank account holds out, or whenever bank accounts they may draw upon. One man is in jail now for making use of somebody else's bank account for his trip along the orchid route. But that another fellow was born in New York, and is one of New York's most exclusive sets, via the orchid route. So you see, it works all right. And these anxious to get in take a chance.

But considering that we live in the twentieth century, and as has been said, man's nature, and his love of cells of a superior kind, do not such people seek exceedingly purple? Ought not to be some other standard for admission to society? Should not a debuteante or a society matron be required to have a certain standard of worthiness passport than a bunch of orchids, purchased by reason of a flourishing bank account, at the highest priced florist?

The debutante, it seems at this season, we must have with us, or they will not yet pass these things to us on our onward way. But should not there be some movement as the credentials of entrance than a costly bunch of orchids which any girl may buy, and which will not make her stand up to other standards that will make for a fairer social life for her?

Heretic as the debutantes from her birth, she strain stretch out in an inferior hand. If she will refuse from those who admit to her favor something of money, and a few flowers, and will be helping to keep a bunch of orchids, she will be helping to build a fairer social life for her?

C. P. R. EXHIBIT

Magnificent Display at New York Exposition.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Thomas W. Bell, the assistant general advertising agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, returned from New York, where he has been in recent days completing the exhibit of the company at the annual American Land and Irrigation exposition which is being held in the 71st Regiment Armory at the corner of Madison and Park Aves., New York. Mr. Bell said that the C. P. R. exhibit was easily considered the finest that had ever been placed in the hall of the Canadian National Resources Department of the C. P. R. had a very massive and complete exhibit of the natural resources of Canada, comprising the great timber of British Columbia, its minerals and fruits. Very original and artistic were the exhibits, and a float from the time the land of the Prairie Provinces was broken, passing through the various provinces until it reached the Great Lakes, as depicted by the deer. The breaking of the land, the sowing of the wheat, its harvest, threshing and grain were all shown, and the attraction of the land. The exhibit also contains fine specimens of whale, bats, harpy, bear, owl, cormorant, timothy, and other dried and bottled specimens from British Columbia. The coal and minerals were very interesting, but without exception the most complete exhibit was that of the gas, including over five hundred miles of the most magnificent scenery in the world. The Company has also a large display of the railroads, showing the Atlantic Expresses arriving at and departing from Quebec. The scenes are set in a long, and narrow hall, one and a half stories high. A display cabinet worked by motor shows a hundred and fifty-six specimens of the rarest and most valuable from Liverpool to Hong Kong, China, travelling more than half way round the world. The display is the Canadian Pacific Railways property. Also two very fine models, one of the steel reduction loops and the other of the British Columbia, both of which are about five feet square, and the largest picture ever made in the world is to be seen at the C. P. R. stand. The total representation of sixty-seven of the company's seventy-seven steamers, and six feet by twelve feet, is to be lighted by electricity, showing the fleets of the C. P. R. at night. The decorative scheme of the booth is very attractive, the flags of the various countries, and the C. P. R. has a port of call. Two exceptionally fine paintings—one of a mouse, and the other the world famous Canadian Rockies, also a painting of the C. P. R.—the work of Carl Rungius, recognized as the leading animal painter in the world. The gas, which means least, is the natural gas exhibit from the Province of Alberta. The gas is contained in a large tank and jets out into the floor, the power of the illumination. In Alberta there are eight natural gas wells now in operation producing over two hundred and fifty million cubic feet of gas.

NEW COMMANDMENTS

Good Citizenship Rules of Chicago Women.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—"Ten commandments of good fellow" circulated by the Chicago Women's Aid, have been taken up by the health department and are to be found in the daily bulletin. The "commandments" follow:

II. Remember thy cleaning day and keep it wholly.

III. Thou shalt love and cherish thy children, and provide for them decent homes and playgrounds.

IV. Thou shalt not order thy silly, thy backyard, thy hall, and stairway.

V. Thou shalt not kill thy neighbors' hounds, birds, or pets, nor thyself.

VI. Thou shalt not steal thy children, nor thyself, nor thy pets.

VII. Thou shalt not steal thy children, nor thyself, nor thy pets.

VIII. Thou shalt not kill thy neighbor's rubbish heap.

IX. Thou shalt never witness against thy neighbor's rubbish heap.

X. Thou shalt covet all the air and sunlight thou canst obtain.

CURES ARE EASY

Of Bullet Wounds in the Balkan War

London, Nov. 14.—A Red Cross despatch describes the rapid recovery of the Lancet the rapid recovery of wounded men in the Balkans from his observation of more than 600 cases in the field hospitals of the Balkans. A bullet shot through the body, the bullets penetrating the liver, lung, spleen and intestines, rendered him in a fortnight.

He says, "The Balkan war, as it is rendered antiseptic by the enormous heat of the burning powder, and hardly any water available, the first features of the homes at the base of the nose were seen among the Turkish soldiers, who were sweating profusely, and received blows in the face from the recoil. The severest wounds by the bayonet were held more difficultly than from a bullet."

BIG PLANS FOR WEST.

(By Times Special Wire.) Portage la Prairie, Man., Nov. 25.—Hugh Armstrong, who has just returned from Ottawa, states that the C. P. R. has a port of call. Two exceptionally fine paintings—one of a mouse, and the other the world famous Canadian Rockies, also a painting of the C. P. In the Poultry World

EIGHTEEN ARE HURT

In Montreal Suburban Car Collision To-day

The different methods of feeding are giving different results in the flocks. Take three flocks, all leghorn, and one poultry raiser will obtain a greater egg yield, while another will obtain a greater difference in the strain, which has much to do with egg production, but taking it for granted that the three strains in the egg yield where different methods are used in feeding.

A heavy snowstorm was in progress at the time of the accident, and it is believed that the driver of the car which was involved in the accident was blinded by the falling snow.

Most of the passengers were hurt by flying glass after the impact took place, and several were wounded by persons coming into the city for their business.

U. S. SENATE CLOSE

Death of Democrat Makes Upper House Even.

(By Times Special Wire.) Washington, Nov. 25.—Senator Isham Rayner of Maryland, died yesterday morning at the age of 62 years.

The Senate after March 4 may hinge on the death of Senator Rayner. The Maryland Senator, who was appointed by Governor Goldsborough will appoint in his place, will hold office at least until the Maryland General Legislature meets in January, 1914.

Senator Rayner's death removes one of the leaders of the Senate, and on the arrival of the new Congress, will be the new Congress.

Without Rayner, the Senate Republicans will have a majority of 50 to 49.

MASS MEETING OF THE MISSION

Large and Impressive Service at Temple.

TWO GOOD SPEAKERS

Father Staunton at St. John Evangelist.

The Anglican church mass meeting held in the Temple theatre in connection with the closing of the eight-day mission, yesterday afternoon, was well attended, the body of the theatre being filled and the balcony nearly so, when the meeting was opened at 4.15 p.m. Lordship Bishop Clark acted as chairman, assisted by Rev. Dr. Abbott, Rev. Dr. Cannon Alcock, of Liverpool, and Rev. Dr. T. G. L. of Toronto, were the speakers, and both delivered strong and impressive addresses, which undoubtedly will have a lasting influence on those who had gathered to gain the inspiration which was certain in the meeting of the kind.

Bishop Clark, in opening, impressed upon the audience that the mission which was nearly closed had been highly successful. He urged those who were regular communicants, or who, perhaps, had not received the sacrament, to confer with the rectors of their parishes in letting the church and thus with Christ himself.

"The present son" was the subject of the address by Rev. Mr. Oxens. "That old story, yet ever new—newer than the latest teachings of religion—in an application of the Pauline love of the neighbor, dealt with in a simple manner by the speaker. He related the old story impressing upon his hearers that it could well be applied to present-day missions.

One and all sat in silence in that lives looked back to the days of green hills, and for the experience of the prodigal son; longed for them, chiefly because they had not experienced them. Many, far from home, had the intent to treat those hills, with the result that they suffered the misery and the sorrow experienced by the prodigal son. But God, but God, but God! His authority and did not always want His presence, were plain to all. The preacher urged his hearers to take a definite stand for Christ, to consider the value of the soul in the matter of religion. Love, he said, is the keyword to success, and the first and chief duty of man and of Jesus all through the ages past, and that which He has given us to perform.

The preacher went on to say that the soul of man is the most absolutely essential to any blessing or success in Christian life—decision determining.

That Rev. Mr. Andrew's course of sermons during the mission have been highly appreciated and have done much to assist the work, was made evident in the large number that assembled in the schoolroom after the close of the services to hear him harangue on the character of the home-coming of the child of God and the welcome that always was waiting.

Rev. Canon Alcock, who was chaplain of the first contingent which went from Canada to South Africa, declared that man was never more at home. "The truest human man was the less he seemed, declared the speaker, who deplored the fact that men met here these days with great dollar ready to give, ready to reclaim a man, when they would not give ten cents to save a boy before he went wrong."

"We have your boys and girls in the church before, and then there would not be so many sanitariums and hospitals and jails in the world." The speaker told of seeking a man in Montreal to contribute to work on behalf of children, and found one who had given $100,000 to contribute $60,000 the year before to hospitals, sanitariums and asylums and to other such work. The replies given by Canon Alcock were that the money was helping to maintain institutions useful only because of the work of the devil.

It was pointed out that Jesus Christ when revealed Himself as the Son of God, and also as the human man.

St. JOHN THE EVANGELIST.

Some thanksgiving services were held in the local churches. Father John the Evangelist Church last evening, it being the concluding service of the mission. Father Staunton addressed the congregation in his usual manner. In the evening he took "for his text: 'Who hath ears to hear let him hear.'"

In speaking of the mission he said: "A moral life was not all that a man needed to attain salvation. He must also require Christ in his soul. In the world of today it was not important for a man to lead a righteous life than it was for him to receive the sacrament, but to be a good man."

His teachings, consequently, was the ideal life. It was not enough to live a moral life, the same as the Jews believed in doing a lot of good. A good life must be made in the interests of others, and it was necessary that the word of God should be taught.

"God did not openly declare Himself the Messiah," said the speaker. "He spoke in riddles, and the people did not understand. He declared Himself to be no neutral ground. It is necessary for us to make up our minds to follow Him."

Father Staunton explained that Biblical stories were not for history alone, but were a practical help. "The Jewish nation was a chosen people, destined in consequence at Christ's coming, but it sank to the lowest, for it persecuted Him. People come to God, but God often gets closer to them or goes far away."

In speaking of the mission work, Father Staunton explained that it had been a great success. "The question is, was it a great help to you?"

"In a moment God could abolish vice; improve the political and industrial conditions, and put a stop to the drink traffic, but He does not care for such results. He wants us to work to attain them," said the speaker.

The Thanksgiving service was a very pretty and appropriate service, the speaker being the cross on the altar singing "Forward Christian Soldiers." This marked the closing of a very successful mission. St. John's Church members have felt a great uplift as the result of the services that have been held.

Rev. Mr. Henstridge preached a very stirring sermon at the Thanksgiving service, taking for his text, "Examine yourselves whether ye be in the faith."

CLOSED AT ALL SAINTS.

The All Saints' service on the last day of the mission at All Saints', conducted by Rev. A. W. MacKay, of Ottawa. In the morning Mr. MacKay preached from Ecclesiastes, 12-4. The wonderful chapter draws a contrast between the enthusiasm and alertness of youth and the gradual weakness and weariness of old age. "We should rejoice in the former, its energy and cheerfulness, but we must remember how quickly it passes."

In the afternoon Mr. MacKay held an informal service in the church, for a very large congregation of the children of the church, and was accompanied by the children of the Girls' Home. Mr. MacKay had a very happy faculty of owing out the deepest quietude and the deepest calm overcomes their shyness in giving answers in public. He further interested the boys and girls by a series of apt stories that illustrate his points.

The closing service was at 7 p.m., and the minister preached to a large congregation from the words: "The angel of His presence saved them." God is present with me in my affliction. He gave me strength and courage in the joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner that repents.

A short farewell service was closed with a benediction for the minister and the benediction.

At the close of Mr. MacKay's service the minister expressed his gratitude to God for the benefits of the mission, and then paid a tribute to the mission for his self-sacrifice in leaving his own parish to come and help in the spiritual work of the mission. The rector alluded to the importance of the intellect rather than to the emotions, the former being more likely to leave an indelible impression.

Many parishioners have expressed themselves privately as having derived help and spiritual benefit from the mission, and some have throughout been most gratified.

ST. PETER'S CHURCH

A church crowded to its capacity packed the hall for the service at St. Peter's Church last night. The preacher, Rev. J. W. Andrew, filled his hearers with inspiration and high ideals. Very stirring sermon. Jonah, xxiv: 24: "Choose ye this day whom ye will serve."

As in the days of old, when the Lord, the preacher urged his hearers to take a definite stand for Christ, to consider the importance of the soul in the matter of religion. FIRE PANIC'S DEATH TOLL

Fifty Spanish Children Are Trampled to Death

AT "MOVIES" SHOW

Film Ignited and Nervous Operator Cried "Fire!"

Bilbao, Nov. 24.—Fifty Spanish children were trampled to death in a moving picture show here to-day. The scene of the accident was a large circular room containing a continuous cinematograph show. As the price of admission was only 10 centavos, many persons crowded to its utmost capacity.

The operator of the machine had been unable to extinguish the flames himself without difficulty, and the audience was instantaneous.

The manager and other employees have been arrested and are held pending an enquiry.

NEW GERMAN SCARE

Homer Lea's Book "Day of the Saxon."

Bilbao, Nov. 24.—General Homer Lea's book "Day of the Saxon," which he claims is about to be published to death, is about to be published in the semi-official Berlin printing house of Mittler & Son.

In order to popularize the work for German readers, it has been rechristened "The Day of the Saxon," with the subtitle "The Warning of an Anglo-Saxon General."

The author & son, who are bringing out the new book, are practically the Government publishing house, and almost certainly the high official sanction for printing the German translation of "The Day of the Saxon."

It is believed that the British Empire will reap the benefit.

It is expected that the British Empire will be compelled to purchase the book at a cost of $30,000. This latter scheme is to be voted on by the taxpayers of the city.

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. James T. Gillard entertained at an informal tea, after the football game, in honor of Mrs. Hendrie Leggett. Refreshments were served in the decorated. Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Champ, Mr. and Mrs. Backus, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Zimmerman, Mr. and Mrs. Langford Robinson, Miss Dorothy Wilgrose, Mr. Robert Glasco, Mr. and Mrs. Eber, Mr. Harry Gates, Mr. George Gandy, Dr. and Mrs. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ladd, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brewster.

The Royal Highness the Duke and Duchess of Connaught held their second drawing-room in the Senate Chamber, Ottawa, on Sunday evening. It was a brilliant and gorgeous evening and the assembly by far the most representative of the people of Canada. A private view of the room. One hundred and eighty-six were presented. H. R. H. the Duchess of Connaught was regularly robed in white, with a necklace of gold brocade in white and embroidered in gold. The long train cut in tapering waves in white was a picture. The Duke, in full uniform, was a picture. The Queen Mother, in native blue, Miss Pelly. Lady-in-waiting, wore white velvet brocade, and Miss Adan was in white satin and tunic of spangled lace. Miss Kittson, of this city, was one of the guests. She wore American beauty satin veiled in black and gold; jewelled and studded.

The marriage of Lucy Evelyn, the youngest daughter of Sir Archibald, to Mr. Lawrence Jones, the eldest son of Sir J. L. Jones, was celebrated at St. Margaret's, Westminster, London, on Saturday evening. The bride was in a silver brocade, trimmed with old lace. Seven bridesmaids wore dresses of cream net and satin with lace borders. The page boys were dressed as sailors. The parents were a grand piano and candelabra from the Minto Skating Club, of the same city; a handsome clock from Mrs. Jones' mother; a diamond bracelet from Mrs. Nastor, Hamilton; a silver mirror from Mr. Charles Harris, and a cheque from Lord Mount Stephen.

Miss Mabel Peters, of St. John, New Brunswick, member of the Superior Court of Appeal, died on Nov. 21. Miss Peters was a member of the National Council of Women, who was in Hamilton last week, was the guest of honor at a delighted luncheon on Saturday, given by the members of the Canadian National Suffrage Association.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Ross Cleveland, Ohio, and Mrs. Alan C. Young will receive for the first time since their marriage at the home of Mrs. S. O. Young, their mother, "Foothills," Jackson street west, to-morrow afternoon.

Mrs. T. D. Forin will receive for the first time her home, home, 866 Main street west, to-morrow.

Mrs. W. R. Mills has issued invitations for an at-home to be held in the Conservatory of Music, on Thursday, Dec. 4th.

Mrs. J. Terrybird, 19 Morden street, will receive to-morrow afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Legatt and Miss Legatt are visiting in Detroit.

Mrs. Olmsted and Miss Madeline Bolz have returned from a New York visit.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Eastwood have returned from New York, soon after the sun rose on the explosion in California.

Mrs. Annie L. Saunders, actress and manager of the Jarvis Reed, spent from Friday until Monday the guest of John T. and Mrs. Westcott, 56 Wilson street.

Youngman, W. C. T. U. will meet at the Y. M. C. A. hall, on Gordon street, Nov. 26th, Tuesday at 3 p.m.

Mrs. Harris and son Will are visiting friends in West Long.

Mrs. Robert Donaldson (nee Thompson), of Hamilton, spent a few days with her parents at Mount Hutton.

Mr. and Mrs. Blaney, this city, are visiting at Mr. Alton Binkley's, Morrison.

Mrs. C. W. Binkley, Morrison.

Mrs. J. Frey and Miss Melinda Frey, Aberfoyle, are the guests of Hamilton friends.

Fine Methodist Church ladies have prepared on a large and magnificent scale the new church which is to be built in the school room to-morrow, opening exactly at 12 o'clock with dinner, followed by a service, and a regular tea at 6 o'clock. The ladies will offer for sale every sort of fancy goods, etc., suitable for Christmas, and the best of home-made cookery.

W. C. A. NOTES.

The Y. W. C. A. building committee has been looking into at least half a dozen prominent citizens thought that the work needed big and better apartments and decided to take up his plan to have another place built so that the young girls who are coming into the world will not be compelled to board that would suit them instead of having to go to some other boarding house where they would not be satisfied.

The Y. W. C. A. is a great work for the city since its erection, and it is the opinion of many that some prominent citizens will be induced to help towards having a new place built.

Yesterday afternoon a song service was held in the First Presbyterian Church, and the members of St. John's Presbyterian Church supplied the services and a short address was given by Rev. J. H. Hunter, pastor of the First Street School. The singing was lead by the orchestra, under the leadership of Miss Jean Hunter.

—Sergt. Hawking and a squad of police from the 1st and 2nd battalions raided the home of Harry Price, 244 King street, on Saturday night, and seized a quantity of liquor. A summons has been made on all other living, even though it pushes a lad to accelerate their movements either out or in. To secure such a man in the city's service would be worth a million dollars.

THE MAN IN OVERALLS

The Board of Trade is looking for new members. Are you a member?

Do your Christmas shopping early and please the merchants and their clerks.

Controller Bailey is not surely to have a walkover.

Don't worry about the ice crop. The frost won't kill it.

But perhaps the Assessment Commissioner did not know that the Council had passed that local option resolution.

I hate to see a young fellow worse off than I am.

How is the rubber market? Goloshes are now in demand.

If you don't belong to a men's club you are all the better thing No. 8 would do could be to move right up town.

I spoke to you about the furnace the other day. Is it all right?

No doubt the lawyers are sorry that Michael Fraser has appealed his case to a higher court.

Here's the head fruit inspector for Canada drops into Hamilton and confides in us that we have the best apples in the country. Now what was all the fuss about?

We should have few fresh salmon candidates out this week. Then one or two lady school trustees would be in order.

They tell me now that we have so much rain that we can't have much snow this winter. Just wait.

Just as soon as we all leave him to hunt for another job.

Ex-Al. Farrar should be appointed Adjutant-General to the citizens. He is all right, may I know who knows him. He knows what he wants to do with the street railway. He knows what and how these extensions should be made. He is a better man for the position.

FOLEY—Glen and Georgia Foley, 20 Victoria avenue north, on Tuesday evening, 11th inst.
